Situated between Boulevard Haussmann and Place Vendôme, Bucherer Paris is at the very heart of so-called Triangle d'Or of Haute Horlogerie. The elegant Building on the Corner of Boulevard des Capucines is classified as a Monument Historique and is one of the Landmarks of the Opéra District. Bucherer Paris is the World's Largest Watch and Jewellery Store.

In 1888, a businessman and entrepreneur by the name of Carl-Friedrich Bucherer and his Wife Luise opened Lucerne's first Watch and Jewellery Store and laid the Cornerstone for a successful Family Company. His sons, Ernst and Carl Eduard Bucherer, joined the Family-owned Company in the 1920s and, thanks to their wide-ranging Experience, took it even greater success. In 1924, Ernst Bucherer entered into a particularly fruitful Partnership with Hans Wilsdorf, the Founder of Rolex. He decided to include the then little-known Watch Brand in its Range. Today, Rolex is one of the World's most celebrated Watch Brands and remains the House of Bucherer's most important Partner.

In Switzerland, Bucherer also acquired the Kurz Group in 1989 and, in 2001, Swiss Lion AG. That same year, the Independent Carl F. Bucherer Company was founded to maintain the Bucherer Family's Watchmaking Tradition, established in 1919. In 2013, Bucherer celebrated its 125th Jubilee and opened the World's Largest Watch and Jewellery Store in Paris. The Northernmost Bucherer Store to date opened in Copenhagen in 2016 : it is the Largest Watch and Jewellery Store in Scandinavia. Four more Boutiques in London were added to the Company Portfolio with the acquisition of The Watch Gallery in 2017.
