THE CRM OF EMOTION, BIG DATA, AI & INFLUENCERS. Is there a CRM of Emotion ? Is it possible to build the Customers Emotion based on Thousands of Data available ? With the Emerging Actors of the New Dimension in Terms of Analysis and Understanding of the Customers, is needed an Overview on this New Ecosystem.

Luxury is a Business Model. This has been Empirically Fine tuned through Time by those Luxury Brands that dominate the Pantheon Worldwide: Louis Vuitton, Chanel, Gucci, Hermès, Ferrari, Rolex and so on...

 Luxury Goods need to stand on their Own. Each Brand should be marketed as a Unique Product. It should not be positioned in Relation to a Competing Brand.

 Luxury Brands should facilitate Dreams. Therefore, the Brand should not pander to the Consumer's wants and needs. The Brand needs to set the Standard for the Consumer's Aspirations.

 Luxury Brands should not only cater for a Specific Target Audience. They should have a Global Reach. Therefore, Marketers should consider using the Influencer Marketing Concept carefully as it will reduce the Luxury Brand's Scope and narrow it down to a Specific Target Audience.

The Open and Inclusive Nature of Internet would at first seem to work against the Exclusivity that is so Important to Luxury Brands, but that is not the Case. Luxury Brands have been able to harness the Power of Digital Marketing to reach out to their Target Audiences while also increasing the Wider Recognition and Mythos of their Brand across the World. The Aim of the Marketing Game for Luxury Brands is creating the Highest Brand Value and Pricing Power through leveraging Distinct and Brand-Specific Elements such as Heritage, Rarity and Innovation. The Internet allows Brands to do this on a much Larger Scale than ever before, making Products more Desirable as ever more People are drawn into their Orbit.

When it comes to conveying luxury, however, photographs and videos are of the utmost importance. This would seem to indicate that Pinterest or Instagram would be useful networks to use. Instagram is particularly popular with young consumers who, while pershpas not being able to buy your products, are critical in building up a sense of mystique and desirability.

 Technology may have revolutionised the Retail Sector, but the Next Question facing Luxury is how to effectively harness Tech Innovations to connect to Consumers, without isolating them.

 Consumers are increasingly Sceptical, and crave Authenticity and Honesty. Luxury Brands are well placed to fill this Gap, if they leverage their Heritage to engage with Communities.

 As Retail Pivots towards the Experiential, the Nature of Experience has shifted, and there is an Increasing Need for Innovation to appeal to the Consumer. Hardy Similarly stresses the Importance of Cultivating Meaningful Experiences.

 Importance of an Equal Division of Creative and Commercial in Luxury Businesses to thrive.
