While a proactive optimism is displayed up to the highest level of the State on the health situation of the country at the end of spring, and that strong measures are taken to curb the epidemic, it would be incomprehensible not to hold the departmental and regional elections scheduled for June 13 and 20.-----

If the scientific council dictates the election calendar, then we have changed our political regime without admitting it! The government rightly emphasizes the need to live sustainably with the virus and to behave as citizens. In any democracy, the citizen is first of all the one who votes freely. So democratic countries around the world, from Portugal to the United States, have recently held elections. Election deadlines must be respected so that the French can choose their local elected representatives, and thus express their aspirations to be more attentive and more close.

THIS IS DEMOCRATIC EVIDENCE THAT MUST ACHIEVE CONSENSUS-----

This is democratic evidence that must achieve consensus, according to the head-leads, Dominique Bussereau, President of the ADF, President of the Department of Charente-Maritime, Jean-Luc Gleyze, Secretary General of ADF, President of the Gironde Department, François Baroin, Chairman of the AMF, Andre Laignel, 1st Deputy Chairman of the AMF, Renaud Muselier, President of Regions of France, President of the South Region, François Bonneau, Deputy President of France, President of the Center-Val-de-Loire Region
